The product is appropriate for members transitioning to retirement and for those who may take career breaks or on ceasing a self-employment arrangement after joining the product.

- are age 75 and over wanting death cover;
- are age 67 and over wanting income protection cover;
- are age 70 and over wanting total and permanent disability cover;
- require total and permanent disability cover that is not combined with death cover.

Consumers working in high-risk occupations (as determined by our insurer) may be eligible for default insurance cover but will not be accepted for any additional insurance cover.

Consistency between target market and the product

HESTA believes that the HESTA Personal Super product is likely to be consistent with the likely objectives, financial situation and needs of the members in the target market. The key terms and attributes of the product have been critically assessed and found to be consistent with the identified target market. This assessment included consideration of the varying levels of choice that members have in the product particularly with the investment and insurance features to cater to their personal situation and life stage.

HESTA regularly reviews:

- our investment options to provide members with the opportunity for competitive, risk-adjusted net long-term returns (returns after fees and costs)
- member engagement across the suite of investment options offered to ensure the appropriateness and need for a broad range of investment options appropriate for differing levels of risk tolerance and investment horizons of members
- administration fees and costs, including benchmarking against similar super funds
- insurance fees and features, to minimise the account erosion of our members, while providing appropriate insurance options for members
- the design of this product to ensure it is not complex and allows for a high degree of self-servicing.

4. How this product is distributed

Distribution channels

The HESTA Personal Super product has been designed to be distributed directly with members and also on an advised basis through the following means:

- through representatives of the Trustee
- by an online or physical application form
- by third-party financial advisers and other regulated persons (holding an AFSL) who engage in retail product distribution.

Distribution conditions

The HESTA Personal Super product is distributed under the following circumstances where:

- the member is self-employed or not currently working in employment arrangements where legislated minimum employer contributions are required to be paid on their behalf; and
- the individual member meets the relevant insurance eligibility criteria outlined in the PDS (if applying for insurance cover); and
- through the join process the applicant has answered the required questions relating to employment status and insurance eligibility.

The HESTA Personal Super product is not for distribution in jurisdictions outside of Australia.

Adequacy of distribution conditions and restrictions

HESTA believes that the HESTA Personal Super product distribution conditions and restrictions ensure that only members who meet eligibility conditions enter this product because:

- the join process requires individuals to answer questions relating to employment status and insurance eligibility directing them to the correct product based on their response
- upon making an investment selection or switch, questions are presented to members upon investment switch to increase the likelihood of distribution being consistent with the potential risks and returns associated with each investment option
- contact centre and member facing employees are trained on the key terms and attributes of the product, including the product eligibility.

The Trustee has determined that the distribution conditions and restrictions make it likely that members who join the product are in the target market for which it has been designed.
